Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

Boss Mayor Kelly of Chicago is working hard to elect President Roosevelt for a third term. Bosses Ed Flynn of the Bronx, Hague of New Jersey, and Prison-Bird Pendergast of Kansas City are also working tooth and toe-nail for Mr. Roosevelt. On the other hand John L. Lewis of the CIO has declared for Wendell Willkie. We juxtapose these statements, although personally we think Mr. Lewis is an honest man and therefor respect him, while the above gentry supporting Candidate Roosevelt are beyong the pale of decency either in a social or political sense.

As Lewis excuses his bedfellowship with Girder and Weir, indicating that he would not quit his membership in a church because there were one or two hypocrites among the members, so we excuse our presence among the followers of Wenedll Willkie even though John L. Lewis is one of them. We do this because we believe the issue is far more vital than involved in the political fortunes either of Mr. Willkie or Mr. Roosevelt.

As for smearing and sneering in this campaign we must confess that both sides are doing too much. In the nature of things men worn to a frazzle in debate will often seize the handiest verbal weapon to wallop their opponent. Actually however, the New Deal is the more practiced adept at smearing, not only in the figurative sense but literally, for during the campaign Wendell Willkie and Mrs. Willkie have been liberally plastered by New Deal followers with rotten eggs, tomatoes and other offensive projectiles. Willkie, being a man can take it, but it does seem a pity that New Deal leaders would not see to it that Mrs. Willkie is spared this outrage. The President's prompt rebuke of the hooligans among his henchmen seems not to have restrained them.

Some people with short memories say that Wendell Willkie pomises much but never indicates just how he will keep his promises. For these we are reproducing parts of an article by Wendell Willkie appearing in the Reader's Digest for October. It follows:

"The New Deal has never encouraged production. It has fought a steady fight against the managers of production. It has vilified them. It has twisted the laws to hurt them. It says that 'the lower one-third' should get more. I say so, too. I would not call them 'lower.' They are just poorer. I hope to see them get more. But I say to them:

"'You will never get what you ought to get as long as you have a government which intimidates the managers of production and which prevents production from going to its best and biggest.'

"The managers of production today are themselves mostly workers. They are employees—of the company, of the stockholders, whether in white collars or in blue overalls, have a central interest in common. It is production. And they have a central enemy in common. That enemy is the man, whether politician or speculator, who looks down on production and who tries to find the easy money way to either personal or national wealth.

"Germany, Russia, Italy try to make the people produce. You cannot make a free people do anything of that sort. You cannot 'plan' freedom. That is what our 'planners' forgot. How could they 'plan' that there should be an Edison in all his new unimaginable industries? How could they 'plan' inventiveness and initiative and the spirit of risk and adventure that lies at the heart of all successful productive effort in this land of freedom?

"We need administrators in Washington who do not hate business and do not hate labor and do not hate any part of the people. When the head of a democracy utters words of hate and when he appoints haters to high office, he disrupts the spiritual unity which is the only hope of a democracy.

"I would not substitute an administration that hates labor for an administration that hates capital. I want an administration that knows that labor, business, agriculture, finance, must all be appreciatively encouraged to do their best for the country . . .

"That is why I talk so much about 'national unity.' National unity means a better life in the heart and a better life in the pocketbook. It means that an administration that really believes in it can unite our people now in the greatest cause that our people have ever had. That cause is an economic strength that can make our military strength invincible.

"Let the government just dedicate the people to that spirit. The people will do the rest."

PTA Party Tonight All Kids Come!

Fete Tonight Designed To Keep Children Out Of Mischief

Ghosts and goblins will roam tonight but instead of in cemeteries and haunted houses they will give their Hallowe'en performances in the Elementary School Auditorium.

Tonight is the night of the Parent Teachers Association Hallowe'en Festival. Besides offering entertainment galore for the children of the city it will keep them from performing mischevious pranks which may result in entanglements with the law.

The Hallowe'en program will start at 7:15. Each grammar school grade will give a five minute presentation with a Hallowe'en theme. Between 8 o'clock and 8:30 the grand march will take place. Those in costume will be considered by a group of judges for prizes offered by businessmen of the city.

Lots of Fun

In the shed there will be concessions of all sorts, including a fish pond, darts at balloons, nail driving, candy booth, cider well, ring toss, noisemakers, fortunes and apple ducking.

In the auditorium will be dancing for a nickel, white elephants for sale and the sidewalk cafe, where hot dogs and coffee can be obtained.

In one of the rooms a talking movie will be shown and in another room a chamber of horrors has been arranged.

The PTA has worked hard for the success of this party. Besides providing clean fun and entertainment for the kiddies for Hallowe'en night, the party will raise money for the organization's milk fund.

Adults as well as children are invited to the party. The door prizes will include a box of groceries, two dinners, shampoo and finger wave and a picture.

ROLL CALL PLANS FORMULATED AT MEETING MONDAY

Plans for the Red Cross roll call membership drive here were formulated at a meeting of the directors and officers of the local chapter on Monday night.

Mrs. Katherine Edwards of the Pacific branch of the Red Cross assisted the local leaders in making plans for the drive, which will start on Armistice Day.

An increased membership in this city is looked for this year. Mrs. Arnold Jackson, roll call chairman, is anxious for volunteers to assist in the drive.

The annual meeting of all local chapter members will be held on December 4th, at which time the nominating committee will submit its choice for officers and directors. Nominations can be made by any one at the meeting, however.

Monday night's meeting was held in the office of President Thomas O. McCraney. A shipment of material for dresses has arrived in this city and a shipment of color wool for knitting goods is expected soon. Those who are able to assist in the dressmaking and also those able to knit are invited to meet every Tuesday at 1 o'clock in the National Hotel here, where the activities take place.

SIERRA RESIDENTS SUIT PLAINTIFFS

A suit has been filed in the superior court of Pinal County, Ariz., by R. F. Taylor, Ruth A. Taylor and Ross L. Taylor, all of Downieville, against the Rainbow Bakery Company of Phoenix, Ariz.

The complaint charges the bakery company, through its driver, Paul Burrel, caused a wreck which demolished the automobile driven by Mrs. Taylor near Florence, Ariz., last November. Both Mrs. Taylor and Ross L. Taylor were injured. The suit will be tried late in November.

Local Selective Service Boards Make Next Move In Training Procedure

ORDER NUMBER WILL BE ASSIGNED TO REGISTRANTS UPON ARRIVAL OF MASTER LISTS FROM NATIONAL HEADQUARTERS IN WASHINGTON, D. C.

What is the next development in the Selective Service program?

Now that each registrant in the 21 to 35 year old class have been assigned serial numbers and numbers in the order in which they will be called, the uppermost question in the minds of nearly every person in the United States is the next move in the mobilizing of the vast peace time army.

The members of the draft board here are marking time until master lists arrive from Washington, D. C., where the national lottery was conducted Tuesday. When these lists arrive, probably by the end of this week, the local boards will proceed to assign the numbers which will determine the order in which registrants will be summoned for questioning for possible military service.

The work of assigning numbers is expected to require at least two days and as a result officials of the selective service setup pointed out it will be in the neighborhood of a week from now before registrants will know definitely where they stand in the conscription program.

Questionnaires will be mailed to the registrants who are high on the national master list after the order numbers have been assigned. The recipients of the questionnaires will have five days in which to have them filled out and returned to the local board.

Advisory Board Named

A thirty man advisory board has been appointed by Howard Bennetts of Grass Valley to assist registrants in answering the questionnaires. The headquarters of the advisory boards will be announced later.

When the questionnaires are returned, the registrants will be given an oral examination by the draft board members. The selectees then will be classified as immediately available for service, deferred because of dependents, deferred because of occupation or deferred because of physical disability.

Those placed in the first classification will be sent to a physician for a medical examination, and if found to be physically fit they will be instructed to hold themselves in readiness to answer the first draft call.

May Enlist Now

Registrants who prefer to be called up for one year's service voluntarily, rather than waiting until they are called, may enlist immediately.

In Nevada County, Jeremiah Clyde Rosewall of Grass Valley, a miner employed at the Empire Mine, was the possessor of the first number drawn in the national lottery—158. As Rosewall is married he will probably be deferred.

Nevada County's registrant total is 2,894. All numbers drawn in the lottery over that amount are disregarded in this county.

The quota for California in the summoning of men next month is 1,127. On that basis Nevada County is likely to send only a few men in the first call. Subsequent calls, however, between November 18th and next July 1st, will see many more leave for the year's military training.

Through radios and daily newspapers most of the registrants in Nevada County have already ascertained their order numbers. Those who have not learned their order numbers can obtain them from the local selective service headquarters in the courthouse here in about a week, when the numbers will be posted opposite their names and serial numbers.

Class One First

First selections for military training will be made from the "class one" group, composed of those in good physical condition, having no dependents and not engaged in essential industries. Those 'deferred" and placed in the other three classes are subject to call later if and when

GRAND JURY IN SESSION TODAY

The 1940 Nevada County Grand Jury met here today in special session with Foreman R. J. Bennetts of Nevada City presiding.

FAILS IN COLOR TEST

Noble McCormack is a very disappointed young man. After successfully passing every other test for entrance into the naval reserve, McCormack, son of County Clerk and Mrs. R. N. McCormack, was turned down because of inability to distinguish colors. Young McCormack is a deputy clerk.

ELKS CHARITY HALLOWE'EN BALL, OUSTANDING SOCIAL EVENT, WILL ATTRACT MANY

Exalted Ruler Harrison Randall of the Nevada City Elks last night appeared before the Grass Valley Elks and asked them to attend the Elks Charity Hallow Eve ball on Saturday night in the local Elks Hall.

Randall was able to promise a grand party because of his knowledge of the hard work the committee has already put in on the affair

The party will commence at 7 p. m. with a baked ham dinned in true autumn and Hallowe'en style. Decorations of corn stalks, pumpkins and golden brown leaves will predominate. Musical numbers will provide dinner hour entertainment.

Many Amusements

Games and stunts will be played before the dance starts. Bingo and other amusement games of a carnival nature will be played. A majority of those attending will appear in costume but not mask.

"Come dressed as you want" is the committee's advice. The advance ticket response has exceeded all expectations. Letters from Elks members living at distant points have sent remittances and have expressed their desire to be present.

Many Nevada City Elks will have as their weekend guests Elks members coming from out of town for the event. Many parties of six and ten members are being planned.

This charity party for Elks, their ladies and guests ranks among the most important social events of the year.

As a charitable organization, the Elks have made their annual White Christmas a most worthy project. Not proceeds go to this fund.

Members with tickets in their possession are urged by the committee to reply by Friday night.

DO NOT RECEIVE PAY

Members of Selective Service Board No. 22 of Nevada County, contrary to the belief of many people, are not paid for their services. Before the appointment of any selective service board member throughout the entire United States becomes effective he must sign a pay waiver.

This is also true of the members of the Advisory Board for Registrants of Local Boards. The Advisory Board members total approximately 30 in Nevada County. They were selected by Howard C. Bennetts of Grass Valley, the chairman of the Advisory Board.

Political Campaign Windup

Democrats

Frank Finnegan, chairman of the Nevada County Democratic Central Committee and active in the campaign for the reelection of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, anticipates a good majority for Roosevelt over his Republican opponent in Nevada County at Tuesday's election.

Finnegan reports a great demand for Roosevelt buttons both at his office here and at the Roosevelt for Reelection headquarters at 131 Neal Street in Grass Valley.

He said 2,000 of the Roosevelt buttons have already been given out in this county. The button supply was exhausted three times and an order had to be placed for more. An additional 500 were received yesterday. In addition to the buttons, 500 car stickers were given out.

Mrs. Rose Hubbard is in charge of the Roosevelt headquarters in Grass Valley. Finnegan, Dr. Hawkins and Curran Heath have been active in behalf of the president's reelection in Nevada City.

Local Willkie Headquarters Warned Against Plot Here Tonight

The Northern California Republican Campaign Committee has advised the Wendell Willkie For President headquarters here particular care should be taken to protect the office Hallowe'en night.

"We have been advised," the communication read, "that many of the headquarters will be destroyed on this night and the blame placed on local children."

Monster Rally Saturday Nite

There will be a monster rally Saturday night for Republican and Democratic voters in the Veterans' Memorial hall in Grass Valley to which all voters in Nevada County are cordially invited. Maurice Kach will show two moving pictures. Representatives of both the Democratic and Republican party will speak. For the Democratic party Capt. Mabbutt of Democrats for Willkie headquarters in San Francisco will speak.

Capt. Mabbutt during the world war was one of President Wilson's guards.

Assemblyman Allen G. (Scoop) Thurman will be the Republican speaker. Frank Benallack, for thirty-seven years a miner in the North Star, will be master of ceremonies.

Republicans

The women's committee of Willkie Volunteeers of Nevada City have completed the mailing of 7,120 letters to registered Democrats and non-Republican voters in Nevada County, urging the election of Wendell Willkie on Tuesday.

The Nevada City Willkie Volunteers precinct committee has been active since the middle of this month in personally contacting every non-Republican voter in Nevada City. Willkie volunteers are doing likewise in other parts of the county.

In cooperation with the Willkie For President headquarters in this city, Willkie headquarters are functioning in Sierra City, Downieville and Loyalton. C. B. Foster Alleghany mine superintendent and George Hallock, president of the California Hydraulic Mining Association, are active in Sierra County in behalf of Willkie.

Youths' Part Too Small . . .

Youth should have a greater voice in the affairs of the community, the state, and the nation.

By the term "youth" we mean no specific age limits. There are only two generations—the young and the old. The old have always governed the young and mapped the destiny of the nation and the young have done the bidding of the old and fought the battles that the old believed should be fought.

And down through all the history of the world and the nation one can find few examples that the old have done better by their people than the young. Perhaps in many cases they have not done as well.

The world that is being built (or wrecked) today is being shaped by those who cannot be classed as young. Yet the destiny they are working out and the world of tomorrow of which they are laying the foundations is not theirs. They will be gone. It is youths' world which they are formulating. Youth has a right to a voice in the formation of its own nation and world of tomorrw. They are the ones who have to live in it. And it will do them no good if they get their chance later to guide the destiny of a succeeding generation.

Editorial Forum

"The Sacramento Bee remarks: 'Collective bargaining is all right; but this country needs more collective good will, collective fair play, and collective co-operation for the public good!

"That piece is well spoken, and comes surprisingly from an organ that has given consistent support to an administration at Washington which has persistently ignored these desirable objectives in the last seven years, and which are among the planks of the platform of Wendell Willkie, whom the Bee opposes for the presidency. Figure that out if it can be figured."—Redwood City Tribune.

"The career of Wendell Willkie proves that democracy is still functioning in America, and that a man whose sole asset is the faith and confidence of the rank and file of his party can run for the nation's highest office, and while running make a frank, open and unbossed campaign." — San Jose News.

"Wendell Willkie, with his unorthodox frankness, disdain for political expediency, and his penchant for speaking blunt truths in everyday language has done his country a service sadly needed—Willkie has demonstrated that candor honesty, and faith in the wisdom of the people are stronger weapons than all the wiles and tricks of political chicanery." —Davis Enterprise.

"Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt, reporting her visit in a locality that was pro-Willkie, said that although she was in the land of 'the enemy,' it was a 'very friendly enemy.' In other words, the First Lady's visit was not marred by any rowdy incidents, such as egg throwing, booing or peering. That particular 'enemy' has thus set an example which the other 'enemy' would do well to follow."—Burlingame Advance.

Tom's Last Ride

One moment he was speeding across the rugged desert, hurrying dangerously in the impetuous Tom Mix manner—the next instant he was dead, his life crushed out in the wreckage of his automobile. And so death came to Tom Mix in a manner and setting strikingly like hundreds of Mix scenes on the screen.

Replace the automobile with a beautiful horse, and middle-aged men can recall the boyhood thrill of seeing fearless, hard-riding Tom—hell bent to save the foreman's daughter from a fate worse than death, or to intercept the rustlers' gang before it reached the border—ride over collapsing bridges, along the brinks of canyons and around blind curves on narrow trails at suicidal pace. And in those rides, as in his last ride, Tom Mix rode alone.

Since the cowboy star, as all men, was destined to die at some time and in some fashion, there is little occasion for true sadness in his passing. He had lived to the age of 60—about the limit for the thundering, athletic life he loved. A few years more, and age would have begun to handicap and deprive him cruelly. Had he written the script of his own life, Tom Mix probably wouldn't have altered materially either the details or the timing of his last ride.

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder why we worry so,
Fathers and anxious mothers,
About the daughters of the land
And those fine lads, their brothers.
They are as loyal to the flag
And all it means, as we
And they will tend the fires that light
Our shrine of liberty.

I wonder if we may now cease to worry about the youth of America. We know that the boys and girls come in contact with pernicious influences and that the doors of subversive organizations swing enticingly open at their approach, but the young people of America are capable of coping with the dangers about them and they may be relied upon to make wise and thoughtful decisions.

"The American Institute of Public Opinion, which is sponsored by some one hundred and thirty five newspapers, polled American youth at the suggestion of the Readers' Digest on a series of significant questions carefully framed to bring out the attitude of the young people toward life and toward our democratic institutions, and to reveal their opinion on America's vital foreign and domestic policies."

The result proved by facts and figures that, "American youth is tough-fibered, loyal and hopeful. The young people believe this is the best country, worth working and fighting for. They have faith in the future. They are not radical—in fact, they are surprisingly conservative in their views."

In answer to the question: "If you were president of the United States, what would you want to do?" The replies were almost unanimously as follows: "Build up our defenses; keep the United States out of war; reduce unemployment; strengthen government finances; help the poor; halt the trend away from democratic principles; maintain New Deal reform; eliminate slums; improve the relief administration; help the farmers."

The article titled, American Youth Speaks Up, from which I was given privilege to quote, appeared in the October issue of Readers' Digest. I wish every adult man and woman in the United States could read, and study its implications. Surely many mothers, fathers and teachers would rise up comforted.

I wonder why certain lines read long ago, have been running through my mind lately. They are tantalizingly elusive—I seem quite unable to repeat them verbatim—this is the best I can do.

The men who fight for Germany, in many a brutal war,
Alas, alas for Germany, they have their graves afar.
The men who rule in Germany and human rights forget,
Alas, alas for Germany, they have no graves—as yet.

Uncle Silas says: "The political tug of war will soon be over now, we Americans will lose the strange gift of tongues which afflicts us during heated campaigns, and no matter which "great leader" makes the grade, we'll all settle down to the less noisy task of pulling together—and that is as it should be."

NEVADA CITY'S SHARE OF LIQUOR TAXES $1,585

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 31.—R. E. Collins, chairman of the Board of Equalization, today announced the allocation of $7,570 to Nevada County as its share of the distribution of alcoholic beverage license fees earned during the first six-month period of 1940.

Of the county's total share, $3,367.50 will go to the unincorporated area while $1,585 has been allocated to Nevada City.

Collins pointed out that the current distribution for the entire state amounted to $1,591,980.46. This represents one-half of the net fees earned during the period.

Semi-annual reports of income from this source for the last three years were as follows:

	April	October
1938	$ 991,962.33	$1,998,111.17
1939	1,222,192.85	1,368,619.29
1940	1,425,045.24	1,591,980.46

Board records show that with the current distribution, cities and counties throughout the state have received, since the repeal of prohibition, a total of $16,504,332.84. This sum has been distributed by the board of equalization on the basis of actual licenses issued and at no cost to local governments.

Board members explained that the unusually high collections could be attributed to a rush of business during the first half of the year and would undoubtedly be compensated during the last six months inasmuch as the number of licenses issued by the board as definitely restricted.

Of the distribution announced today, the largest single amount will go to Los Angeles County and its cities with a total of $432,061.80. The city and county of San Francisco is second with an allocation of $347,152.97.

NEW ATTEMPT PENDS TO JACK UP GAS TAX

By NEWTON STEARNS
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 31.—(UP)—A new attempt to increase the present three cent gasoline tax in California when the legislature convenes in January was forecast during the week as the state highway commission met to consider requests for millions of dollars worth of highway improvements.

Amerigo Pozzani, Los Angeles member of the commission, took the lead in proposing a boost in the tax, pointing out that many worthy projects in all parts of the state must be rejected each year because of insufficient funds.

A bill providing for a one-cent increase was introduced in the legislature last year but failed of passage. Bozzani did not recommend any particular amount of increase but declared highway standards are to be maintained.

California's tax of three cents per gallon is among the lowest in the United States. Motorists pay 4½ cents every time they buy a gallon of gas, but 1½ cents of this goes to the federal government.

Governor Olson's ouster of four members of the state board of prison directors last June became news again at midweek when the third district court of appeal heard arguments in an action brought by A. R. O'Brien of Ukiah, chairman of the former board, seeking to invalidate the governor's dismissal order.

John L. McNab, attorney for O'Brien, declared the ouster was "simply an arbitrary removal of public officers for political purposes, to obtain control of the state's prison system."

Director of Penology John Gee Clark, who originally filed the dismissal charges with the governor, was represented by Attorney George Olshausen, who pointed out that removal of the directors followed a formal hearing under procedure outlined by the state constitution.

Those dismissed along with O'Brien were T. N. Harvey, Bakersfield; Edward L. Abbott, Santa Barbara, and John D. McGillvray, San Francisco. Donald Kolts, Los Angeles member, was named in the original charges but his term of office expired before the governor's hearing was completed.

The new board appointed by Olson is made up of Judge Isaac Pacht, Los Angeles, chairman; Geo. A. Briggs, Los Angeles; Hugh Spears, Grapevine; Chris T. Merchant and W. E. Smith, both of San Francisco.

Aside from dismissal of Warden Court Smith of San Quentin prison, a major target of the administration in the prison investigation, the new board has not yet carried out any extensive reorganization of the prison system.

The state acquired more than a quarter of a million dollars worth of property near San Luis Obispo during the week for expansion of the present national guard camp in that area.

Nearly 20,000 national guardsmen from several western states are to be assigned to the camp about the first of January for a year's active duty, and the undetermined number of conscripts will be trained there during the next several years.

The present camp includes approximately 9000 acres of land but only about 500 acres is sufficiently level for construction of housing facilities and other accommodations for the large number of soldiers expected there.

Accordingly, the state made arrangements to purchase 1287 acres of flat land across the highway to the south and west from the present camp. Only about $170,00 was available in state funds available for the purchase, while the price of the land was $280,000, so Adjutant General R. E. Mittelstaedt interested a group of San Luis Obispo citizens in purchasing the remaining $110,000 worth of property and leasing it to the state.

The entire camp, including the newly acquired land, is to be leased to the federal government for the duration of the national emergency. It was expected that the state would get back its entire cost and also any improvements erected by the army.

CHRISTMAS TREE CUTTING STARTS IN CALIFORNIA FOREST AREAS

Nearly two months until Christmas and the annual harvest of Yule trees already is underway in many forested areas in California.

While tree cutters are busy with ax and saw, wholesalers who deal in Christmas trees are receiving shipments for storage in anticipation of the mid-December rush.

According to forest rangers, Christmas tree poachers have caused considerable damage to forest tracts during recent years. But such trespassing now is being met forcefully by Section 384a of the California Penal Code which requires that all Christmas tree dealers in this state must have notarized permits to possess or transport trees, and Section 135 of the Vehicle Code which authorizes State Highway officials to investigate shipments of trees to determine legal possession.

State and federal officers will closely supervise all phases of the Christmas tree trade in California. Shipments of trees from Oregon woods also will be checked for credentials at California ports of entry.

"These safeguards," states Regional Forester S. B. Show of the U. S. Forest Service, "will provide maximum protection to private land owners who may have a valuable investment in standing trees. Likewise, public forest areas will be adequately guarded against poaching and trespass.

"When a purchaser invests in a fir tree for the home this Christmas he can be reasonably sure that it's an 'honest' tree, not one that has been bootlegged."

The forest service reported a commercial harvest of 50,000 Christmas trees on national forest lands of California last year. In addition to thinning thick stands of young fir trees, the sales to operators brought $12,640 to the U. S. Treasury.

Twenty five per cent of this money will be refunded to counties for local schools and roads.

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 31.—(UP)—The practice of narcotic addicts going to various doctor's offices for "treatment" and then stealing the doctor's supply of of narcotic prescription blanks has been "nipped in the bud," John Gee Clark, director of the state department of penology reported today.

These cases, Clark said, were immediately brought to light by the system in effect in connection with the handling and checking of the duplicates of the prescriptions received in his office.

With a few exceptions, he said, the theft and forgery was immediately detected and the offender apprehended. In many cases, additional charges of theft and burglary were filed against the individual.

Clark said attempts had been made to photograph the official blanks and also to print them without success.

ANNUAL FALL RANGER CONFERENCE FOR TAHOE FOREST OPENS NOV. 9

District rangers of the Tahoe National Forest will have a postman's holiday on the occasion of their annual fall meeting this year, according to Forest Supervisor Guerdon Ellis. Instead of holding the usual conference around the council table at their Nevada City headquarters, they will foregather in their natural environment, the wide open spaces, and talk things over on the ground.

Each district ranger will, however, have an opportunity to see the other districts of the forest and how the other fellow handles his job. Assistant Supervisor E. L. Baxter, who is in charge of the affair, has arranged the program so that the principal activities and projects on the respective districts will be inspected.

District Rangers J. . Hodgson of Big Bend, F. W. Meggers of Camptonville, F. B. Delaney of Downieville, Anselmo Lewis from the North Bloomfield district, H. I. Snider of Truckee, and F. A. Land of Sierraville, will assemble at Nevada City on the morning of November 9 and in company with Ellis and his staff, composed of Baxter, B. C. Goldsmith, L. S. Smith, G. E. Mitchell and C. M. Gwin, will proceed to Forest Hill where District Ranger Beardsley will show them around his district.

Among the projects on the Forest Hill district will be the extensive planting area on the site of the disastrous 1936 fire, and the Mosquito Ridge truck trail project. The evening will be spent at Forest Hill CCC camp, and CCC forest service personnel will take part in the conference on camp activities.

On November 10 both summer and recreation areas will be inspected on the Big Bend district, and the night spent in Truckee. November 12 will be devoted to inspection of Truckee headquarters, the public camp ground at Lake Tahoe, and forest service residence tracts. The evening will be spent at Hobart Mills Camp and CCC personnel will again be called into conference. On November 13 the party will proceed to Sierraville by way of Lemon Canyon road, inspecting the new type drainage dips installed there. Erosion control and camp ground projects will be visited and the night spent at Downieville, where the trip will be completed by inspection of projects on the Downieville and Camptonville districts.

Ellis feels that more extensive and open discussion will result from actually talking things over on the ground rather than around a conference table, and that the associations during the trip will induce a much freer interchange of ideas than in a formal conference. It is an innovation so far as the Tahoe forest is concerned, he states, and the personnel is looking forward with much interest to the meeting and what the results will be.

Willkie To Win, Polls Indicate

Nationwide Trend Points To Sweeping Republican Victory.

Wendell Willkie and Senator Charles L. McNary are riding the crest of a Republican trend that will take Mr. Wilikie to the White House and will elect Senator McNary as the next Vice President of the United States.

This view is confirmed by all polls of recent weeks, including the Gallup poll, which have indicated a surge of voters to the Republican standard bearers and wholesale desertions from the ranks of supporters of the New Deal Third Term candidate.

The indications are also that this trend against the New Deal will be further accelerated and reach overwhelming proportions by the time the voters go to the polling places on November 5 to cast their fateful ballots.

Most significant of all prognostications on the outcome of the election is probably that made by Emil Hurja, noted statistician, who was the political analyst for the Democratic National Committee, under the Chairmanship of Jim Farley, from 1932 to 1937, and who in 1936 predicted with uncanny accuracy that Roosevelt would carry all but two states in the last national election.

Mr. Hurja now predicts with equal positiveness that Wendell Willkie will win on November 5 by a majority of from 2,500,000 to 3,000,000 of the popular vote, carrying the electoral vote of the states in New England and the Eastern Seaboard, the Middle West and the farm belt, more than enough to insure his election.

Mr. Hurja even goes further, declaring his belief in the possibility that Willkie may win by landslide proportions, securing a majority of from 5,000,000 to 8,000,000 of the popular vote. Says Mr. Hurja of the trend Republicanward: "This swinging of the political pendulum from the Democratic to the Republican side is noticeable in each of the eight geographical regions of the United States and it is sharply revealed in the reports of each of the several other polls now busy sampling opinion on a nation-wide scale.

"The marked sweep of the pendulum Republican-wise is the outstanding characteristic of the present campaign from a poller's point of view. And the swing itself is occasioned by this fact: the percentage of voters who intend to change party allegiance this year is much higher among those who voted for Roosevelt in 1936 than among those who voted for Alf Landon."

The Dunn Survey, compiled by Rogers C. Dunn, statistical analyst of New York, who has been engaged in making polls of political trends for the past six years, flatly forecasts that Wendell Willkie will win 27 States, with a total of 334 electoral votes or 68 more than the 266 required.

Said Mr. Dunn: "Should the trend toward Mr. Willkie continue, as is believed to be likely, the outcome of this election by States is expected to be similar to the pattern of the Presidential election of 1920, when the Republican candidate received 404 electoral votes."

Startling are the results of polls made by the New York Daily News, a pro-Roosevelt newspaper, which has Willkie leading in a state-wide poll of pivotal New York State with 50.6 per cent of the vote to the Third Term candidate's 49.4 per cent. This is the first time in the history of the Daily News forecasts, which have been very accurate in previous elections, that have shown the Republican Presidential nominee leading in the state.

Newspaper polls taken in Illinois, Ohio and other states also show Willkie leading and all indicate the marked Republican trend.

But polls are really not needed to substantiate the marked swing to the Republican ticket. It is evidenced by the steadily mounting enthusiasm of Republicans in every State, the tremendous receptions Mr. Willkie, Senator McNary and other Republican candidates and speakers have received wherever they have appeared and the growing realization by the electorate that the decision to be rendered on November 5 is literally to determine the future of the Republic.

Relief Costs Too High

Under the New Deal the cost per year per case on relief has increased from $225 in 1933 to $1,004 in 1940, an increase of 343 per cent. It now costs $1,004 per year to support a person on W.P.A. work. The worker, however, receives only $650 of this amount, the balance going to overhead and material costs. In 1938 the average wage earner in industry received $1,176. In sharp contrast to the cost of work relief, the State and local governments support their direct relief cases at a cost of slightly more than $300 per year. Consequently, including administrative costs, three persons are provided for by direct relief for the cost of one W.P.A. worker.

Colossal Debt Burden

The interest on the Federal debt for the fiscal year 1941 will be $1,100,000,000. This $300,000,000 in excess of total Federal expenditures for any peacetime year prior to 1916. The Federal individual income tax for 1937 produced only $1,091,740,746, or just about enough to meet the interest payments on the Federal debt in 1941.

ELOI-SUN WARNS OF SUBVERSIVE MENACE TO U. S.

Neither the battle for Britain nor "the battle for America which is already being fought" will be won solely by constructing mighty engines of war and conscripting armies of men, a distinguished Nevada City visitor declared last night.

He was Eloi-Sun of Honolulu, who returned here to repeat the lecture on "Hitler's Secret Weapon" that met such hearty response from Twin Cities when sponsored by the Hague, Thomas, Hegarty Post No. 130, American Legion in Nevada City last week.

"Rather," he said, "successful defense of America depends not only on material re-armament, new warships, airplanes, tanks, guns and soldiers, but also on spiritual re-armament of the American people. One of the greatest battles in the world's history is being fought right now within the borders of America against subversive forces seeking to undermine the nations will to fight, soften its will power and prepare it for the final crushing blow by military forces."

Mr. Eloi-Sun deplored what he termed the "spiritual softness" of the American people. He warned that if the nation is not soon brought to realize full significance of liberties granted under the constitution and powerful forces opposing them through sabotage, espionage and insidious propaganda, democratic government as we know it is in imminent danger of extinction.

"To combat this two-fold threat of totalitarian offensive and American passiveness will require the most concerted national program of education—education in the intrinsic value of democracy to the individual and his definite responsibilities for maintenance of them. A united America can accomplish this task—a divided America cannot," Elio-Sun concluded.

The internationally known authority here to present a School of Democratic Education as part of the Ramparts of Democracy, expanding national educational movement will speak again tonight at the I. O. O. F. Hall on "The Answer to Hitler," and Friday night will conduct the school. The meetings are open to the public and a collection will be taken states Miss Margaret Ferguson, First National Vice President of Ramparts of Democracy and visitor from San Francisco.

CITY PURCHASES NEW POLICE CAR

The Helbach Motors bid for a new police car was accepted by the city council at a special meeting Tuesday night.

Helbach offered the city $625 for the present police car, leaving a total of $458.41 for the city to pay. The new car will be fully equipped for police work.

The Helbach bid and those of the Pontiac and Dodge agencies were the only ones submitted.

All members of the council were present at the meeting. Mayor Ben Hall presided.

The council also passed a resolution endorsing amendment No. 14 on Tuesday's election ballot. The amendment gives the city governments the right to distribute gasoline and liquor tax money as they see fit.

"Pier 13" Opens Friday Night on Local Screen

New York's excitement-teeming waterfront, where things happen faster and funnier than anywhere else, is the background for "Pier 13" new 20th Century Fox film due tomorrow night at the Nevada Theatre. Advance reports have hailed the picture as one of the season's outstanding pieces of all around entertainment.

Lovely Lynn Bari, who recently was seen in "Lillian Russell," has the leading feminine part in "Pier 13" and never appeared to better advantage, it is said. Her role affords her an excellent vehicle for dramatic and comedy acting and, according to previews, she gives a performance that rings true in every detail.

Others in the cast, which was carefully selected by Executive Producer Sol M. Wurtzel, include: Lloyd Nolan, Joan Valerie and Douglas Fowley.

CLAMPERS FORM NORTH SAN JUAN DIGGINGS LODGE

H. W. Paine of the Columbia Hill section was in Nevada City today to attend the special grand jury session.

DIVIDE A 3 CENT STAMP INTO 15 EQUAL PARTS

One of those tiny segments will represent about one-fifth of a cent—the share railroads receive when they carry your letter to any part of the United States and Canada.

What is true of the mails is true of almost everything that is handled by your railroad's transportation facilities. That new chesterfield you just purchased came all the way across the continent at trifling freighing charge. That big piece of valuable mining machinery arrived in perfect condition from Syracuse, N. Y., at only a few dollars cost for expedient delivery and guaranteed safe arrival. The very paper this advertisement is printed upon was part of a ton roll capably handled by railroad's "big load" freighting facilities. And so it goes—down the long list—things you eat and wear and work with—transported from thither and yon to here and there by rail and motorized freight unit service.

Good railroad service is taken for granted—truly a tribute to the efficiency of organization that makes it possible—and paramount reason why leading shippers invariably add this insistence to freighting orders—"PLEASE SHIP BY COORDINATED MOTORIZED RAIL SERVICE."

Future of U. S. May Rest on Rural Votes

Will there be a Third Term of New Dealism for this country of ours after November 5?

Or will there be a New Birth of American Freedom, Free Enterprise and Opportunity?

The answer may well rest with the rural voters of America, particularly the farm men and women. The balance of power in the national election is considered by experts to rest on the farms.

The rural voters may well hold the destiny of America in their hands on November 5 The question is; Will they vote in their full strength? Or will enough of them, from carelessness or forgetfulness, stay home so that cities wash out the rural vote for Wendell Willkie? That is the critical question.

YOU . . . men and women of the farmlands of America . . can answer the question There never was a more important election in the history of America. Never were more vital issues at stake Never was there a clearer duty upon the part of the American citizen to exercise his privilege to vote.

The records of every election for many years past show a great fluctuation in the size of the rural vote. When the farmer, unbossed vote stays at home, the city, boss-controlled vote comes out in full strength.

This is an election in which there should be no stay-at-homes. Too much is at stake for America and for every man and woman and child in America.

A grave and solemn responsibility rests on the rural voters the people who vote on principles, on beliefs, on convictions, without being paid to vote and without being told how they MUST vote.

The boss-controlled vote will come out in force: make no mistake about that! The paid vote will come out in force: make no mistake about that!

How about YOUR vote? Will you march to the polls on election day to exercise your precious American right to express your free choice in a free election? Or will you be too busy to have a vote in the futur of America?

Vote by all means, Vote! If every voting man and woman in America goes to polls on election day, Wendell Willkie will win. And at any rate, whatever the outcome of the election, the unbossed people will have had their voice in the decision which America makes in its hour of peril.

Wendell Willkie says:

"There has been a lot of talk about the danger of changing administrations in an emergency. The closer Mr. Roosevelt gets us to war, the more people say that we should not change horses in the middle of the stream. Well, for one thing, what are we doing in the middle of the stream; how did we get there—the man who got us in, is not the right one to get us out."

"By the simple laws of economics we must expand the domestic market and the foreign market."—Wendell L. Willkie.

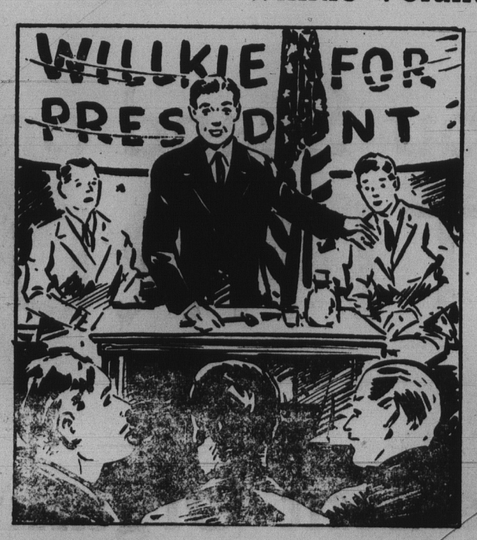
THE LIFE OF WENDELL WILLKIE - - - - - - - - From the Willkie Volunteers in Northern California

Wendell Willkie came out of the T.V.A. fight technically a loser, but he had grown so in political stature that in the midst of all the early checking of possibilities he was only businessman in United States mentioned for the Presidency.

Attracted by his business philosophy, the editor of a business magazine asked him for an article outlining his beliefs. It appeared in April, 1940, and brought such a deluge of requests for reprints that an organization had to be set up to fill the demands.



Then Oren Root Jr., a 27-year-old New York attorney, resigned his position with a law firm, rallied a group of college men about him in a Willkie-for-President Club and began a campaign for Willkie which developed into a string of 600 clubs.

The magazine editor resigned to become a personal representative of Willkie and the Willkie clubs got out news letters that were broadcast. That was all campaigning that was done. Wendell walked into a hotel in Philadelphia without a campaign manager.

By JAMES TRUSLOW ADAMS
Author, "The Epic of America"

I am utterly opposed to a third term, not simply for Roosevelt but for any President whatsoever. . . . This is not because of the beliefs of the Founding Fathers, altho they were probably the wisest group of statesmen ever assembled here. Times change and we ourselves are now Founding Fathers for the future.

The Founding Fathers never conceived that some day a President would have billions of money at his disposal; that he would have powers undreamed of and yet demand more and more while relinquishing none; that he would try to control both Congress and the Supreme Court; that there would be a million Federal employes and many more millions of voters receiving money from the government and the President's appointees. Yet these things have come to pass. They are here today.

Now, and now only, is the time when possibly America can be saved by defeating the Third Term and the trend to government by one man and his satellites. Make no mistake. Practically all Europe, except Britain, has set the pattern and we have been following it step by step. The only chance left to save our way of life and the liberties of yourselves and your children and your children's children is to vote against the permanent retention of office by Mr. Roosevelt or any other President by whatever name. The clock strikes for America, for its freedom and its Bill of Rights, as you cast your ballots on Election Day. God Bless America!

War Will Cost U. S. Liberty

Asserting that the election of President Roosevelt to a third term would inevitably involve the United States in war, which would mean the end of our American system of political liberty, General Hugh S. Johnson, who was appointed by President Roosevelt to direct the National Recovery Administration, warns the voters of America that "this is the last time the people have any choice in the sort of government they want if the present administration is returned to power."

"This administration doesn't hate centralized powers personalized in the President. Under the plan of real or fancied emergency it has for seven years constantly sought them. It has never willingly given one up. The war powers of the President are a temporary but complete adjournment of democracy, of freedom of the press, of speech and action, of all political liberty. If war comes it will be the permanent end of our American system."

Pleading for support of Wendell Willkie for president, General Johnson asserted, "What we need is a leadership that believes in our system of government and trusts and understands our industry and is willing to put its reliance in the spontaneous cooperation of a free people."

A Poor Prophet

The 1936 Democratic platform stated: "We have taken the farms off the road to ruin," and in Hartford, Conn., on October 22, 1936, President Roosevelt prophesied, "I am glad that prosperity is back with us again, and, believe me, it is going to stay." In the next three years total cash farm income, excluding benefit payments, dropped from $8,212,000,000 in 1936 to $7,711,000,000 in 1939, or 6 per cent, and in the latter year United States cash farm income was 31 per cent below the 1929 level.

Broken Pledges

Including his campaign pledges, President Roosevelt has promised to balance the budget no less than 11 times. During the seven years of his administration, however, Mr. Roosevelt has never balanced the budget. The average annual deficit for these seven years has been $3,237,400,000.

Candidate for What?

Some folks say Wendell Willkie does not read speeches as well as President Roosevelt does. Uncle Henry says: "What difference does that make—Willkie's not running for reading clerk."

"In failing to establish recovery, the New Deal has failed the farmer. Factory payrolls and farm income rise and fall together. When farm income is up, farmers buy more manufactured products, and thereby increase employment. It is equally true that city workers buy more farm products when their incomes are increased.

They Climb Together

"I have pledged myself to win recovery for America. This pledge is just as important to the farmer as it is to the business man. And I know how to fulfill it. I will, with your help, bring this nation of ours together."

Politically Speaking

By JOHN W. DUNLAP
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 31—(UP)—For the first time in the history of the state, the secretary of state has more than four million persons registered to vote.

John W. Dunlap.

The official figure was 4,052,395 a clear gain of 269,693 over the August primary and 440,979 over the general election in 1938.

In Nevada County the total registration is 11,770. Republican 4,239 and Democratic 7,173.

There isn't much argument that the intense interest being worked up in the Willkie-Roosevelt battle, and to a lesser extent the several hot battles for state legislative posts, was responsible for the gain in the voting totals. Both parties showed measurable gains over August, with the Democrats jumping 160,015 to an all time high of 2,419,628 and the Republicans going up 96,716 to a total of 1,458,373.

In fact, the presidential battle rather overshadowed the candidates on the minor parties and all the other registrations dwindled.

Perhaps the most noticeable was the Communist total of only 678, as compared to 1310 in 1938. The Communists were just ruled off future ballots by the legislature in a bill signed by Governor Olson. This act may be challenged in the courts, perhaps held unconstitutional, but the unfavorable publicity following the campaign to outlaw the party apparently had some effect in discouraging registration.

The Townsend party showed a larger loss, dropping from 32,970 in 1938 to 14,318 now, perhaps because the Townsend state central committee chose the same presidential electors as the Republicans and thus led some party members to switch to Republican. The trend of the other minor parties was shown in a Progressive drop from 11,988 to 7536; Prohibition from 6359 to 5695; and Socialist from 5206 to 3484 (the Socialists have been outlawed from the ballot because of insufficient registration.)

A tipoff on why most candidates concentrate on campaigning in Los Angeles is seen with the total registration of 1,721,780 exactly 42 per cent of the whole state.

In the house she has resided in for the past 67 years, Mrs. Mary Guenther, Nevada City's oldest continuous resident, Tuesday celebrated her 91st birthday.

For the occasion relatives and friends from afar and near called at her home to offer their congratulations. A family dinner was enjoyed and Mrs. Guenther had the pleasure of cutting her 91st birthday cake.

Mrs. Guenther's total number of years residence in this city is 86. Her 67 years residence in the one home with Mr. and Mrs. James Dolan, her son in law and daughter, is believed to be a record for this area. NEVADA COUNTY RELIEF FOR AGED $19,160 IN OCT.

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 31. — (UP) —September payments to needy old folks, blind persons and children from federal, state and county funds increased 25.3 per cent over the month of 1939, the department of social welfare reported today to Gov. Culbert Olson.

Disbursements totaled $6,724,104 an increase of $1,358,259. The federal government bore the brunt of the increase, contributing $3,716,396, or 46 per cent more than for September last year.

California aged and blind, the figures revealed, received more aid than those of any other states in the nation, although California ranked below four states in helping needy children. Average payments of $37.93 went to 145,153 old folks, $48.05 to 7,248 blind and $45.86 average family went to 15,588 families having 37,836 children. Although total disbursements to families was lower than in some states, the average per family was topped only by Massacchusetts which paid $57.55.

For Nevada county, 490 aged persons received aid totaling $19,169 an average of $39.10 per person; 154 needy blind, $2,625 an average of $17.37, and 20 needy children, $1,000 an average of $50.

CORONER'S JURY GIVES VERDICT IN FOUR DEATHS

A coroner's jury in Grass Valley last night returned an open verdict in the death of Moral Gardner, 29, killed in a fall down the Alexander Mine shaft at Town Talk October 19th.

The verdict by the jury read Gardner came to his death "as a result of a depressed fracture of the skull, caused by a fall down a ladder at the Alexander Mine at Town Talk."

Eugene Peterson, Gardner's partner, testified he found Gardner at the bottom of the shaft in the water when he investigated the cause of the pump stopping. The men had been unwatering the 45 foot shaft at the mine.

Ladder In Bad Shape

Peterson said the ladder in the shaft was in poor shape and had three rungs missing. It was the assumption of authorities Gardner, while climbing to the surface, lost his footing on the ladder and dropped to the bottom of the shaft.

Three other inquests were also conducted b Coroner A. M. Holmes last night.

The jury found William Wolfe, 18 in the deaths of James Tipton, killed by an automobile operated by Eugene Meservey of Town Talk on September 30th and Warren Hartman, who died from injuries when struck by a car operated by Peter Loewen below Grass Valley October 19th.

The jury found Williab Wolfe, 18, was intoxicated when the machine he was operating crashed into the bank on the highway near Colfax. George Riggs a passenger in the car died from injuries in the Nevada County Hospital.

Wolfe last week pleaded guilty to a charge of negligent homicide in Placer County and was sentenced to a year in the Placer County Jail.

Rice's Crossing Bridge Doomed by Debris Dam

Because Rice's Crossing will probably be inundated by the backwater from the Upper Narrows Debris Dam, the Tahoe National Forest Service has started dismantling the bridg there. The steel and other bridge parts will be salvaged for use on other bridge projects in the forest area.

The Rice's Crossing bridge was constructed at the time the Ponderosa Way was built.

DISTINGUISHED FORESTRY MEN HERE TODAY

The men, Earle H. Clapp, acting chief of the forest service of Washington, D. C.; E. I. Kotok, in charge of the California Forest Experiment Station at the University of California and Howard Hopkins, associate regional forester of San Francisco, were conducted on a short tour of this area by Supervisor Guerdon Ellis.

Acting Chief Clapp is especially interested in second growth timber stands. The second growth timber stands in the Tahoe Forest area are considered the fastest growing outside of those in the deep south. Clapp was well pleased with the second growth in this district.

The forest official met in Southern California with the forest supervisors of that area and the earlier part of this week met with Northern California supervisors in San Francisco. Forestry programs for the coming year were outlined.

God has blessed America

NOTHING can soften the sadness of parting from our young men who are answering the call to the colors.

But just watching them swing by, you know there is a cause for giving thanks on bended knees that they are the kind of young men they are.

May we all find ways of telling them the brimming appreciation in our hearts for the high purpose behind the noble sacrifice they are making.

God speed them . . . and return them home safely and soon.
